Says LBJ Tried to Muzzle Him on Baker Case

WASHINGTON (AP)—Don B. Reynolds, a local insurance man who injected President Johnson's name into the Senate investigation of Bobby Baker, claims a Johnson aide tried to quiet him and Baker advised him to go into hiding.

Reynolds said these alleged muzzling attempts were made when he began cooperating with Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., whose own probe of Baker touched off the inquiry by the Senate Rules Committee. Johnson then was vice president.

Reynolds' story as given by him on the interview program "From the People," taped for broadcast by Radio Press International.

"When it (cooperating with Williams) first started I received a call from Mr. George Reedy (now White House press secretary) and he contacted me in my downtown office in Washington and informed me that he had had the president (sic) in contact with him and that possibly it would be better for me to refrain from making any statements at all. That he would release all information pertaining to the insurance on the previously Sen. Johnson."

As for Baker, Reynolds quoted the onetime Senate page who became secretary to the Senate Democrats and built a business fortune before resigning under a cloud last October as warning him: "You get out of town and stay out of town for a couple of weeks. He'll (Williams) get you and the rest of us into jail."

The White House declined comment on the Reynolds interview and efforts to reach Baker were unsuccessful.

Audience Is Charmed by Piano Concert

The charm of beautiful music beautifully performed was felt by the good crowd who turned out to hear Mary Bell Sard in a piano concert at Hope High School last Friday night presented under the auspices of the Friday Music Club.

Whether the artist was playing at lively peasant dance by Bach or a moving, emotional passage by Beethoven, her personal interpretation of the composer's work was transmitted to the appreciative audience. The most loved Concerto in A Major by Mozart, K. 488, was performed with passages played by the Lake Charles (La.) Symphony Orchestra and heard through Klipsch and Associates sound reproduction facilities sound reproduction was a delight to the ears.

Prior to the piano concert, a Brahms violin concerto was heard through the Klipsch speakers Mrs. Sard, dressed in aqua taffeta, won her listeners not only with her skillful performance but also with the friendly personality she conveyed. Proceeds from the concert will be used for the scholarship fund of the Friday Music Club, according to the president, Mrs. Thomas E. Hays, Jr.

Following the concert, a reception was held in the Home Economics Cottage. Daisies and white irises graced the mantle in the living room of the cottage, and white stocks were seen on the dining table where punch and cookies were served. Ushers who also served at the reception were Cathy Field, Ruth Ann Wylie, Ellen Turner, Susan Turner, Virginia Edwards Gayle Medders, and Rachel Batson, all daughters of Friday Music Club members.

Car Hits House, Driver Charged

An auto driven by James Crouse, Hope, left the street and hit an apartment house yesterday at Elm and 13th streets, causing considerable damage. Crouse was taken to a local hospital and treated for a broken nose and a cut over his eye. He was released from the hospital this morning.

Officers Rowe and Jarvis charged him with driving while intoxicated and with destroying illegal whiskey to be used as evidence.

Declares Riots Can't Win Civil Rights Battle

By JOHN CHADWICK

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Frank J. Lausche, D-Ohio, said today civil rights leaders must achieve their goals "within the processes of law and not by trespass, riot, and flagrant defiance of the rights of others."

In the Senate's sixth week of battling over the House-passed civil rights bill, Lausche deplored recent disorders in Cleveland, Ohio, and other cities.

"Recognition must be given to the differences between the fight to gain full enjoyment of constitutional rights, and the means through which such rights shall be attained," he said.

"Candidly I state that the cause of the Negroes in Cleveland and in the nation has been markedly harmed by the recently practice violence and threats of violence."

Through an informal agreement, a majority of the senators were taking the afternoon off to attend the Washington-Los Angeles opening game of the American League baseball season.

The agreement was that there would be no quorum calls, which demand the presence of senators on the floor, during the hours of the game.

Death Comes to Ten by Accidents

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Five persons, including a 15-year-old girl, died in separate weekend traffic accidents in Arkansas.

The deaths, all on Saturday, brought to 10 the number of persons accidentally killed during the week ended at midnight Sunday.

Amanda Jones, 15, of Center Ridge, was killed when the car in which she was riding went out of control on a curve at night and hit a bridge on State 9, about 18 miles north of Morrilton.

Buck Broom, 50, of Texarkana, was killed when he was hit by a car as he crossed a Texarkana street. Mrs. Susie Lackie, 56, of near Jacksonville died in a two-car collision on old U.S. 67-West near North Little Rock.

Avon Flood, 25, a Negro of the Mount Vernon Community near Conway, was killed when he lost control of his car on Arkansas state 35 near Mount Vernon.

And Otto L. Cranford, 70, of Memphis drowned when his car went into the Cache River near Augusta after a two-car accident. Mrs. Cranford escaped.

During the week, seven persons died in traffic accidents, two drowned, and one man died after he was hit by a log which fell from a truck.

Fluctuation of Wells Greatest

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — High intensity shock waves from the Alaskan earthquake March 27 caused the greatest fluctuation in the water level of Arkansas wells ever recorded, the U.S. Geological Survey reports.

The survey has recorders on about 50 wells in the state. It said the fluctuations were as much as 3.3 feet in deep wells.

The previous record during the 36 years the records have been kept was a six-inch fluctuation set by the Alaskan earthquake of July 10, 1963.

The Geological Survey said the test explosion of a 58-megaton nuclear bomb by Russia in 1961 caused less than an inch fluctuation.

It said the fluctuations in Arkansas wells lasted as long as three hours.

Must Have Poll Tax to Vote in State Elections

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Supreme Court today affirmed a lower court ruling that no one can vote in a state election in Arkansas without having paid the poll tax.

The ruling means that the main body of Arkansas' new voter registration law, Act 19 of 1964, is invalid.

However, the Supreme Court did not invalidate the section of the act which sets up a stopgap voter registration system under which this year's elections can be conducted.

But the 1965 legislature will have to enact another voter registration law if the state is to have a continuing registration system.

The Supreme Court agreed with Chancery Judge Guy Williams of Pulaski County that the legislature does not have authority to authorize voting without paying the poll tax any more than it has authority to change other constitutional qualifications for voting such as age and sanity.

The main question to be settled was whether Amendment 39, which empowers the legislature to set up a registration system repealed either directly or by implication Amendment 8, which makes presentation of a poll tax receipt a requisite for voting in state elections.

Both courts said it did not. This means that unless the poll tax is removed by a constitutional amendment the legislature can never set up a system under which persons who have not paid the poll tax can vote for state, county or city officials or in elections involving local issues, such as bond issues and industrial development taxes.

Act 19 was passed at a recent special legislative session called specifically to enact voter registration legislation. The law was signed by Gov. Orval E. Faubus, attacked in court in a friendly suit and held unconstitutional, all on the same day.

Arkansas and four other states were faced with replacing the poll tax for federal elections on adoption of Amendment 24 to the U.S. Constitution.

The other states either have set up or are setting up the so-called dual system under which poll tax payers will be able to vote in all elections and persons who do not pay the poll tax can vote only for federal offices.

Arkansas was the only state which intended to let the free registrants vote in all elections, but the effect of the court ruling is that the state will operate involuntarily under the same system the other four states adopted voluntarily.

Atty. Gen. Bruce Bennett issued a statement noting that he had called attention back in January to the fact that Amendment 8 required a poll tax for voting in Arkansas.

"The decision today maintains the purity of our organized political parties," he said. "It has cleared the air of a lot of misconceptions. The poll tax remains a part of our constitutional law until repealed by the people. I have serious doubts, if the question was put on the ballot, as to whether the people of Arkansas would repeal it."

Orval Drops Hint He Will Run

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Orval E. Faubus dropped another hint here Sunday night that he would seek his sixth term.

He outlined to the Arkansas Conference of Social Welfare the improvements in the state social welfare agencies during his administrations.

Faubus said: "I don't want to tell you all the good things about my administration — I've got to have something for this fall."

Dr. Vernon V. Sisney, chief clinical psychologist at the Veterans Administration Hospital at Oklahoma City was the main speaker at the conference.

Sisney said life would be much more pleasant if a person would brush aside some of his ego and give his fellow man a little sympathy. People should learn to interact, instead of reacting, to the troubles of others, he said.

The conference ends Wednesday.

Khrushchev Lining Up Soviet Satellites in His Bitter Dispute With Red Chinese

By HENRY S. BRADSHAW

MOSCOW (AP)—Polish Communist leaders arrived in Moscow today for talks to strengthen Premier Khrushchev in his bitter dispute with the Chinese Communists.

Polish Communist party boss Wladyslaw Gomulka said on his arrival with Premier Josef Cyrankiewicz that the Polish and Soviet Communist parties "have the same views of the tasks of the Socialist camp, of the strategy and tactics of the international movement."

Any actions directed against the unity of Communist countries "are harmful and irresponsible," Gomulka said.

The Poles support Khrushchev against Red China, but they have been reluctant to go along with a Kremlin proposal for a showdown conference of world Communist parties.

In his television speech Sunday night, Khrushchev denounced the Chinese as "splitting" of the world Communist movement who eventually want to take over its leadership. He made no mention of any world meeting of Communism.

Khrushchev abandoned the Soviet Communist party's claim of dominance over world communism, saying "those times have gone, never to return."

But he said the Chinese were trying to achieve the control Stalin once exercised over the Red bloc by taking a "special course which is a blend of petty bourgeois adventurism and great-power chauvinism."

"The disruptive activities of the Chinese leaders have caused serious difficulties in the world Communist movement," Khrushchev admitted.

To deal with the problem, he called for direct meetings between Communist parties — as equals rather than teacher and pupil. He apparently has in mind the kind of direct talks he held last week with Hungarian leaders in Budapest rather than the gathering of the world's more than 90 Communist parties which Soviet ideologist Mikhail Suslov proposed.

Direct talks now begin with the Poles. The Hungarians gave Khrushchev full public support against the Chinese.

Candidates Say Rights Not an Issue

WASHINGTON (AP) — Nine senators up for election this year in states outside the South agreed generally today that civil rights is not a prime issue in their contests.

Since Alabama's segregationist Gov. George C. Wallace showed unexpected strength in the April 7 Wisconsin primary, politicians have been trying to calculate the depth of possible white resentment to the pace of racial integration.

Wallace said he ran in Wisconsin to demonstrate opposition to the House-passed civil rights bill now pending in the Senate.

But interviews with nine potential senatorial candidates—five Democrats and four Republicans—indicated most of them think Wallace's 25 per cent of the total primary vote proved little, if anything.

Taking a different tack from some of his colleagues, Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, R-N.Y., said it was "utterly immaterial" to him whether his advocacy of civil rights legislation would cost him votes in New York state.

Punishment Is Castro's Speeches

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Making political prisoners in Cuba listen to Fidel Castro's speeches over and over is one of several means used to torture them, a former prisoner says.

Dr. Mario Robau, a physician who said he was assigned to treat fellow inmates in Havana's La Cabana Prison, said the speech treatment "breaks the prisoners' nerves."

Dr. Robau, recently arrived by way of Mexico, at a news conference Sunday that another torture was to sick German shepherd dogs on prisoners. The dogs are trained to scratch, he said.

Dr. Robau said he was imprisoned a year ago without charge and released in January.

All Out War in Viet Nam Not Ruled Out

By DON HUTH

MANILA (AP) — U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk told a closed session of the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization today the United States does not completely rule out extending the war in South Viet Nam, presumably into the Communist North.

This was reported by U.S. informants after the eight-nation session. They said Rusk laid heavy emphasis on the Viet Nam war, although South Viet Nam is not a member of the mutual defense organization set up 10 years ago to halt Communist expansion in Southeast Asia.

The informants quoted Rusk as saying that a victory over the Communist guerrillas in Viet Nam is vital to the West.

The United States, Rusk said, has decided on a course of support and guidance of the South Vietnamese but he added that the United States could not completely preclude extension of the war in a situation so volatile and important to the Western world. Rusk said, however, widening of the war is not what the United States wants and is not a course that anyone would welcome.

He said there is no question that the Communist Viet Cong in Viet Nam is being controlled, supplied and directed by North Viet Nam. The Viet Cong have improved their techniques and added new capabilities, but their ability to overrun large sections of the countryside does not mean they are running the countryside, Rusk said.

Rusk also discussed what he called the ineffective neutrality of Laos and outside SEATO. He said SEATO, particularly because of Laos and Viet Nam, is in serious trouble and blamed this on Red China and North Viet Nam.

The simple fact is, Rusk said, that the North Vietnamese and the Red Chinese "won't leave their neighbors alone, which is the key to peace and tranquility in the area."

The closed-door session, to be followed by another Tuesday, came after an open session that got the conference under way.

At that session, Thailand and the Philippines indicated the time had come for hard talking on the alliance's ability to stem Communist aggression.

Charge Follows Accident Here

Late yesterday at Third and Main streets driven by R. B. Walker of Glenwood and C. B. Tomlinson, Station, Texas, collided causing heavy damage to the Texas car.

Officer Jarvis said the Glenwood vehicle, pulling a trailer, was making a right turn at the stop light and the Texas was in processing of passing when the vehicles collided. Tomlinson was charged with improper passing.

Might Overlook Filing Deadline

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A newsman mentioned to Gov. Orval E. Faubus in a news conference today that Winthrop Rockefeller had announced for governor but had not filed.

"Keep it quiet," Faubus said. "He might overlook it."

The filing deadline is April 29.

Tornadoes Hit 3 States, 6 Killed, 50 Hurt

By RUTHERFORD B. HAYES

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — Dazed survivors picked through the rubble of homes and business buildings today in the wake of tornadoes that slashed through eastern Kansas, western Missouri and southwestern Iowa.

Six persons were killed and at least 50 were injured. Most of the twisters snaked out of thunderstorms that could be seen for miles in the late afternoon — otherwise the toll could have been greater.

Two lines of the storms bracketed Kansas City—one to the northwest, the other southeast—and rolled rapidly to the northeast.

The dead were: Mrs. Jack L. Wilson, 24, Independence, Kan.; Warren Kenyan, Sr., 43, Neosho, Mo., and his wife, Ella, all killed near Garnett, Kan.

Charles Hedger, 13, killed in a barn near Pleasant Grove, Mo.

Victor Kerns, 50, killed near his home northwest of Leeton, Mo.

Flora Eichhorst, 90, killed in her home at Yorktown, Iowa.

One twister sucked up a line of traffic on U.S. 59 five miles south of Garnett and hurled a 50,000-pound truck, a pickup truck and six cars in all directions, killing the Kenyans and Mrs. Wilson and injuring eight other persons.

"It felt like the truck was lifted up off the highway," said Stephen A. Miller, 29, of St. Joseph, Mo., who was hauling 25,000 pounds of meat to Dallas.

The pickup truck was flung a quarter-mile. The driver, Christopher Lewis, 54, Parsons, Kan., suffered a knee injury.

Right behind Miller's truck, the Kenyan car was hurled 600 feet to one side. Another landed 600 feet on the other side of the road. The cars were smashed into twisted bits of metal.

A tornado roared over Leavenworth Kan., not quite touching down, but close enough to damage about 75 homes, smash windows in the business district and uproot many trees. Seven persons were injured there.

Tobacco barns were flattened near Weston, Mo.

Farther on, at Yorktown, a community of 146 persons in southwest Iowa, a tornado killed Mrs. Eichhorst and injured six others.

Scout Training on Outdoor Skills

On April 15, 9:30-2:30, at the Girl Scout Hut, a training course in outdoor skills will be given for Girl Scout leaders in Hope.

Demonstration and practice of knots, firebuilding, lashing, and tent pitching will be offered. This is an opportunity for new leaders to learn skills and for experienced leaders to review them.

Plan now to attend the "Outdoor Skills Day." Anyone desiring further information about the training may contact Mrs. Calvin Smith, the local Neighborhood Chairman.

11th Woman Strangled in New England

NORWOOD, Mass. (AP) — A 63-year-old woman was found strangled with a nylon stocking in the bedroom of her home today, adding another to the list of 11 unsolved stranglings of women in eastern Massachusetts in less than two years.

The victim was identified as Mrs. Goldie Fine, whose husband, Hyman, operates a clothing dry cleaning establishment in nearby Canton.

Medical Examiner Joseph A. King called her death a strangling. One of her own stockings was tied tightly around her neck. Several other stockings were found on the floor nearby.

Norwood Police Chief James M. Murphy said "We consider Mrs. Fine's death a homicide."

High Winds Only Worry Arkansans

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

High winds caused heavy damage in the eastern section of Arkadelphia Sunday night. A boat finishing building and a number of boats were destroyed at the Ouachita Marine and Industrial Corp. and T. B. Sharp, owner, estimated damage at $45,000.

Another building at the plant was damaged. The roof was blown off a motel cafe and slammed into the motel, causing up to $1,000 damage, an employee estimated.

Roofs of several houses were blown off and some power line poles were blown down, interrupting service temporarily.

Brisk winds raked North Arkansas Sunday night but the tornadoes that worried Missouri didn't develop in Arkansas despite a tornado alert.

Batesville appeared hardest hit by high wind. A wind of 60 miles per hour wrecked the grandstand at a concrete wall at a baseball park and destroyed the White River Water Carnival stage.

Police Chief Jim Mitchum estimated damage at $800. Two houses were destroyed at Lafferty north of Batesville. Several barns were heavily damaged and trees were blown down in the area. No injuries were reported.

Harrison and Green Forest reported similar wind. Most North Arkansas areas had rain and some reported hail.

Cool air that moved in behind a cold front is expected to drop overnight low readings Tuesday to the mid 30s and low 40s in most of Arkansas.

The front moved rapidly across the state Sunday night, bringing thunderstorms and thundershowers. A wind storm took the porch off one home at Jacksonville and destroyed some signs, but no one was hurt.

Winds of 50 miles per hour were reported at Pine Bluff and 55 mph at Danville.

The U.S. Weather Bureau said most places received less than a half inch of rain Sunday, but some parts of Eastern Arkansas got more than an inch.

and regardless of politics this is the earliest time we could have put this into effect and still have been sure that we will have enough money for this fiscal year on the next," he said. Then he added with a grin, "So long as I help the old folks, then I don't mind the criticism." And he said to newsmen "Be sure you quote that last exactly." He repeated it to make sure.

The announced increase was $2 less than the increase Faubus has announced before each of his last three campaigns.

As of now, Faubus has no date set for announcement of his political plans. He once set March 4 but this was postponed because of a special legislative session. Last week he indicated he would make the announcement this Wednesday but now he plans to go to Washington with a Fort Smith delegation seeking to keep Ft. Chaffee from being closed.

Faubus has a political meeting set for 9:30 a.m. Tuesday and he said it "might have some bearing" on his announcement. But he would not say he would reveal his plans then.

The meeting was with a Conway County delegation which will give Faubus $1,500 to pay his filing fee for the Democratic primary.

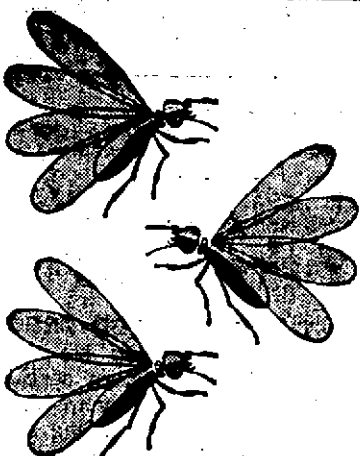

Conway County Sheriff Martin Hawkins and Rep. Loid Sadler said they had helped in a fund-raising project and circulation of a petition urging Faubus to run.

Hoffa Lawyers Reap Harvest

MEMPHIS (AP) — The legal defense fund of Teamster boss James R. Hoffa will receive 1 each from the 21900 members of Teamster Local 667 here.

C. H. Augustine, president of the local, said the contribution was approved by a 211-3 vote at a special meeting Sunday. The action contrasted with a 49-45 vote against contributions by Local 984 several weeks ago.

Contributions from locals are expected to be used to finance Hoffa's appeal of an eight-year prison sentence and $10,000 fine on jury tampering charges.

Cincinnati Opens the Season

CINCINNATI (AP)—An overflow crowd of 32,000 fans was expected to jam Crosley Field Monday afternoon for the 1964 National League baseball opener between the Cincinnati Reds and Houston Colts.

Game time was 2:30 p.m. EST and the Weather Bureau said the "scattered heavy showers and thundershowers" predicted for Monday would be over by the time the familiar "play ball" is sounded.

Cincinnati traditionally gets to inaugurate each new season because it is the home of the first professional baseball team. The other eight National League teams swing into action Tuesday.

Manager Fred Hutchinson picked Jim Maloney, 23 - game winner last year, to start for Cincinnati. Houston Manager Harry Craft tabbed Ken Johnson, veteran right-hander and knuckleball specialist, as his starter. Johnson, a former Red, was 11-17 in 1963.

In pre-game fanfare, Mayor Walt Bachrach will make the first pitch to City Manager William Wichman. The batter will be Gov. James A. Rhodes.

The only newcomer in the probable Cincinnati starting line - up will be rookie Chico Ruiz. He'll be at third base and bat second. The Reds said Frank Robinson, sidelined for almost a week with a groin infection, has recovered sufficiently to take his place in right field.

Craft will field a team of young players and veterans. Former Reds' players in the Colts line-up will be shortstop Eddie Kasko and center fielder Jimmy Wynn, who was a Red farmhand.

Sox Drop Connelly
NEW YORK (AP)—Gene Connelly, who has lost his stock-in-trade fastball at least temporarily, has been dropped from the Red Sox starting pitcher rotation. Reliever Jack Lamabe replaces him.

Cude Won't Appeal Case, He Declares

MENA, Ark. (AP) — Archie Cude said today he had decided not to appeal the state-religion custody case of his three children to the U.S. Supreme Court.

"When we get through with the Arkansas Supreme Court, that is as far as we are going," Cude told a newsmen as he went to a hearing in Polk County Chancery Court today.

The hearing was to determine whether the Cudes can keep the children until the courts are through with the case. The children, Wayne, 12, Delia, 11, and Linda, 8, stayed at home today.

Judge Wesley Howard of Texarkana was conducting the hearing. He allowed the children to be returned to the Cudes Friday after they had been in the hands of the state Welfare Department since Monday. They stayed at Gov. Orval E. Faubus' mansion from Tuesday until Friday.

The Arkansas Supreme Court upheld Howard's ruling that the children be taken from their parents, vaccinated against smallpox, enrolled in school and returned to the parents.

Cude had said he is against medical care on religious grounds and won't take the children back if they are vaccinated. "But if they dump them out here like a passel of dogs I'll care for them," he said. But he added that he wouldn't send them to school if they were vaccinated.

Cude had been fined three times for not sending the children to school. The schools would not accept them without vaccinations.

Cude's only state remedy is an appeal to the Supreme Court to reconsider its decision.

Cude's attorney, Nabors Shaw of Mena, had said earlier that the case would be appealed to the U.S. Supreme Court.

McMath Doesn't Plan to Run

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Former Gov. Sid McMath says he will not oppose Gov. Orval E. Faubus in the Democratic primary this summer.

McMath had said earlier that he would run against Faubus if Faubus did not draw some well-established opposition. He said he has been assured by others, who he did not identify, that they will oppose Faubus.

"Based on the premise that there will be a primary," McMath said, "I have no interest or purpose in being a candidate."

Faubus has not said yet that he will run but he is expected to announce his plans this week.

Ruling in McCool Case Is Upheld

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Supreme Court today upheld a Jefferson Circuit Court ruling in a case which grew out of the financial manipulations of the late J. Thurman McCool.

McCool's bullet-riddled body was found in woods near Sheridan in January, 1962, in an unsolved murder case.

The case the Supreme Court decided today was filed by the Bank of Star City against Noah S. Peek Jr., and involved the alleged increasing of a $500 check to a $22,500 check shortly before McCool's death.

The bank was awarded an $8,500 judgment and Peek appealed, contending that the judgment was perverse in that it attempted to divide the loss between the two participants in the suit.

The Supreme Court, in affirming the judgment, said there was enough conflicting testimony in the case to support either a judgment in favor of the bank or a judgment in favor of Peek.

It said there was negligence on both sides in the transaction. The court record shows that a $500 check signed by Peek on behalf of the Peek Farm Service allegedly was increased to $22,500 and deposited in the Star City bank in the name of the Peek Finance Co. with McCool as the authorized agent to sign checks on the account.

In the next few days McCool drew out some cash and the bank also charged against $14,000 worth of drafts against McCool's business machines company against the Peek Finance Co. account.

Goldwater on Ballot in Ill. Primary

By LARRY OSIUS

WASHINGTON (AP) — The tempo of delegate selection for the Republican National Convention, is speeding up. Thirty-four were chosen over the weekend and at least 73 will be picked this week.

Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona, who now has 109 first-ballot votes in eight states, and Sen. Margaret Chase Smith of Maine will test their popularity in Tuesday's Illinois presidential preference primary.

Their names are the only ones printed in the preference spot on the Republican ballots.

Results are not binding on delegates to the national convention. Forty-eight district delegates will be chosen Tuesday, with 10 at-large delegates to be picked in the Illinois Republican state convention next month.

Of the 78 persons running for the Illinois GOP delegate posts, 34 favor Goldwater, 3 are for former Vice President Richard M. Nixon and one is for Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York. The rest told The Associated Press they were uncommitted or they made no replies.

Three states complete their selection of delegates to the Republican convention.

Woman Flyer Seeks to Be the First

WAKE ISLAND (AP)—Jerrie Mock of Columbus, Ohio, is preparing to fly to Honolulu—the next stop in her bid to become the first woman to fly solo around the world.

She arrived here Sunday after an 11½-hour flight from Guam. About 600 persons at this mid-Pacific island greeted her as she stepped from her single-engine plane.

publican convention at state conclaves Saturday — Arizona, Kansas and Louisiana.

Goldwater is expected to win Arizona's 16 votes. He already has 16 Louisiana district delegates and the four at-large delegates to be named Saturday may be instructed to vote for him, too.

In Kansas, Gov. John Anderson Jr. has been battling for an uncommitted delegation. So far six district delegates are instructed or favorable to Goldwater, nine are uncommitted. Five more will be chosen Saturday to round out Kansas' 20-vote delegation.

On the Democratic side this week are a convention in North Dakota beginning today and the Illinois primary.

North Dakota has 15 votes at the Democratic convention. Illinois has 114, of whom 48 will be chosen in Tuesday's primary. Most are expected to support President Johnson.

3.5% Budget Increase for University

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) —The University of Arkansas' board of trustees approved a 3.5 per cent budget increase Saturday and upped room and board fees at the Fayetteville and Little Rock campuses.

The board approved a budget of $13,017,900 in state funds and $9,525,457 in federal and non-state funds.

Dr. David W. Mullins, University president, said the increase was necessary to meet higher operating costs and provide new campus facilities. It includes selective salary and wage increases for academic and non-academic personnel.

Mullins cited the new science-engineering center and an addition to the animal science building as new facilities. Both will be in operation by fall.

The budget of state money includes $4,965,020 for instruction and research at the main campus, $1,975,447 for the agricultural experiment station, $1,739,533 for agricultural extension service, $3,845,000 for the Little Rock Medical Center, $362,900 for the Graduate Institute of Technology and $130,000 for the industrial research and extension center.

Federal and non-state money is allocated for the main campus, at the agricultural units and at the medical center.

A spokesman for the trustees said the room and board increase was necessary to meet rising costs of housing and food service operation.

Rates at both campuses for single students were increased $5 a month and for married students apartments, $10 a month. One exception was the Terry Village apartments at Fayetteville where the increase was $6 a month.

The new budget is effective for the next fiscal year.

In other action, the board granted the U.S. Coast and Geodetic Survey permission to establish a station at the Rice Branch Experiment Station in Stuttgart.

CAN TOO MUCH DISCIPLINE BE BAD FOR BOY, 9?

By DR. JOYCE BROTHERS

Dear Dr. Brothers: I have a grandson 9 years old, a good student and well-behaved. Since my daughter disciplines him, I often wonder if there is such a thing as too much discipline? He takes punishment without any fuss.

The other day he went bicycle riding with a classmate, and rode into town without getting permission from his mother. He knows she would be worried on account of the traffic. He didn't get back until nearly dark. Of course, I don't blame my daughter for punishing him. He'll be deprived of riding his bike for some time, but I am concerned.

—Mrs. C. B. Dear Mrs. C. B.: Discipline varies from home to home. Over the years, child psychologists have learned that children from strict homes, and children from lenient homes can both grow up to be happy, successful adults. On the other hand, we know that children who are spoiled, and children who are harshly treated can also grow up to be unhappy, malfunctioning adults. Actually, the important factor in discipline is consistency and motive.

May Have Wrong Reason Parents who discipline too much usually do so for the wrong reasons. And they are not content with punishing the child for his offense, but go on to make him feel unworthy and evil.

Children accept punishment for misdeeds, even severe punishment. What is difficult for the child is when the mother not only punishes him, but tells him, "How can you be so thoughtless, cruel and selfish? You're absolutely hopeless. I don't know what I'm going to do with you."

It is this kind of statement that damages a child. He's made to feel worthless and hopeless, and mothers who are lenient and mothers who are strict are sometimes guilty of this kind of behavior. And this is when a child grows up to be a problem.

For the mother has equated disobedience with evil, and the child's sense of values becomes distorted. Eventually, he feels that any time he dares to disagree with his parents, that he is bad or evil.

One of the most frightening occurrences is the mother who figuratively keeps her children in a straight-jacket. Her motive is not a wish that the child grow up a happy and productive individual, but to keep the child from growing up.

This is the mother who forces her toddler to wear mittens night and day to keep him from sucking his thumb. She consistently worries about what he eats, and all sweets and sodas are forbidden. She makes him wear special shoes, and if his posture is poor, fits a brace on his back.

A Prisoner

All in all, she straps him in. He cannot go in for sports, away to camp, or take part in any activity she cannot supervise. This type of mother may not discipline him too much, but subtly, she instills in her son, fear: fear of growing up and being on his own.

This one instance of discipline—Reeves, L. F. Slatton, and Elmer Brown. Those either appearing on the program or participating in discussion groups were Mr. Jones, Mrs. Burroughs, Mr. Slatton, Mrs. McLarty, and Mr. Brown.

Cary Carlton, Albuquerque, and Mrs. C. A. Yontz, Dallas, were the weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Carlton.

Mrs. Carroll Wheeler and Ann, Texarkana, were here Friday night to see Mrs. Clyde Hill and to hear the Sard concert.

ing that you've described certainly does not seem overly strict. However, a 9-year-old should not require perpetual discipline. Self-control should be a built-in part of his behavior, and lapses should not occur frequently.

Possibly, you sense that something's amiss, but cannot quite put your finger on it. The problem may not be that your daughter disciplines too much, but that the father disciplines too little. Discipline is not only the mother's job, it is the father's also. For discipline is a sign of interest on father's part. If a father is indifferent to his son, he will not care if he breaks the rules.

In speaking with your daughter, you might compliment her on the good job she's doing with her son, and ask her if she ever worries whether she's too strict. You'll probably learn that your daughter's thought quite a lot about the subject, and that her decision to handle your grandson in the way she's doing was not taken lightly, or in an off-hand manner.

Asks Reversal of Decision

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Port Smith Chair Co. asked the Arkansas Supreme Court today to reverse a lower court ruling which granted workmen's compensation benefits to three employees who refuse to cross a picket line.

The board of review said the three men should get benefits because they were not actually on strike when they refused to cross the line. They had been on a laid-off status when the strike started June 1, 1961, and were called back to work while their fellow employees were striking.

Unemployment benefits were

ASC Convention in Sharp Talk

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The state Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee is considering the possibility of a new county ASC convention in Sharp County.

Two county conventions have failed to name a new county committee. The state committee set aside results of the first convention. The second was called before any voting.

Eagle Street of Cave City, a state committee member, said last week that the state committee might supervise the next Sharp County convention.

Mark Glover of Rison, committee chairman, said the committee decision would be announced after the Sharp ASC committee has been notified of it.

World News

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS SALISBURY, Southern Rhodesia (AP)—Winston Field resigned today as prime minister of Southern Rhodesia, and British Gov. Sir Humphrey Gibbs named Treasury Minister Ian Smith to succeed him.

Both Smith and Field are members of the conservative Rhodesian Front party, which holds 35 of the 65 seats in the legislature and is pledged to maintain the white minority's rule of the self-governing British territory.

Field, in office since December 1962, lost his party's support because its right wing considered him too moderate. Political circles look for tougher government policies and possibly a declaration of independence from Britain.

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union launched a second unmanned maneuverable space station Sunday, rousing speculation it may be getting ready to denied to the strikers, but the board held and Pulaski Circuit Judge Guy Amsler agreed that the men were not required to cross the picket lines when they were called back from the lay-off.

Rail Talks Shrouded in Secrecy

WASHINGTON (AP)—In virtual secrecy, rail management and labor representatives resume issue-by-issue bargaining today a stone's throw from the White House, knowing that failure to agree by April 25 could touch off a coast-to-coast strike.

The negotiators are working under a temporary truce effect-attempt an orbital rendezvous by manned space craft.

The new Sputnik, Polyot-2, was launched on the third anniversary of the world's space flight by Yuri Gagarin. Polyot-1 was sent up last November.

NEW DELHI, India (AP) —

Charging the Indian government is weak and paralyzed, opposition political groups today called on ailing Prime Minister Nehru to resign.

Delhi state units of the Socialist and Praja Socialist parties, plus several smaller opposition factions, warned they will open "agitation" in the capital unless Nehru quits by Aug. 15.

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) —

Cambodia's chief of state Prince Norodom Sihanouk, has barred all American and British newsmen from his country. Sihanouk accused them of "virulent attacks and calumnies." He objected particularly to Time magazine and the Washington Post.

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) —

President Sukarno today reiterated Indonesia's desire for peaceful settlement of the Malaysia dispute but without agreeing in advance to withdraw guerrillas from Malaysian Borneo territory.

BERLIN (AP) —

A young East Berliner escaped uninjured to West Berlin this morning despite shots fired by border guards, police reported. The young man crawled through four barbed wire fences to reach the West.

ed by President Johnson and under the guidance of a presidentially arranged five-man team of special mediators. The sessions began at the White House and have moved across the street to the Executive Office Building so the President can pop in and otherwise make the two sides aware of his interest.

By arrangement, White House press secretary George Reedy is the sole source of information about the bargaining and except for word that issue-by-issue bargaining was under way and that both sides were showing "a sincere desire to settle," he has been reluctant to pass on details.

It would be an "utmost exercise in futility" to try to predict an outcome, Reedy said Sunday. He did venture the view that the mediators obviously must have felt some optimism when they decided to bring the opposing parties into the same conference room.

The mediators had been shuttling from one side to the other before bringing the rail executives and brotherhood chiefs face to face Sunday afternoon. The session continued into the night.

This last-ditch round of negotiation apparently is the only possible source of solution to the tangled work rules dispute. Johnson has exhausted all presidential actions provided by existing legislation and Congress is reluctant to get entangled in the subject again.

At his news conference Saturday, the President said he is not considering any new legislation that would take the dispute out of the hands of the carriers and the unions.

Warriors and Hawks Tied Up in Cage Play

By MIKE RECHT

Associated Press Sports Writer

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The St. Louis Hawks did everything right and the San Francisco Warriors did everything wrong Sunday night in the National Basketball Association playoffs and the score showed it: St. Louis 123, San Francisco 95.

Warriors' Coach Alex Hannum summed it up: "There's game like that."

The outcome sent the clubs back to San Francisco to settle the Western Division best-of-seven final set Thursday. Each team has three victories.

The winner meets Boston, the Eastern Division playoff champion, in another best-of-seven series for the NBA title.

St. Louis, utilizing quick hands that stole the ball repeatedly and led to easy fast break baskets, stormed by the Warriors for a 59-33 halftime bulge. That settled the issue as the Hawks never let up after the intermission.

Wilt Chamberlain, who crushed the Hawks with 50 points in a 121-97 Warriors' victory Friday, left the scoring to his teammates in the first half Sunday. Content to pass off, he took only eight shots and notched only eight points by intermission.

Chamberlain began taking his shots in the second half and finished with a game-high of 34 points, but it was too late. Bob Pettit led the balanced Hawks' attack with 22 points.

Just Spring Exuberance

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Spring-time exuberance pops up in curious ways among youthful members of the species Homo sapiens. Here's the latest. Amid grunts, groans and gasps for air, the Phi Kappa Theta fraternity at Loyola University claimed a record Sunday by stuffing 32 of their leanest members into a standard-size auto sedan.

Marquette Hoping to Regain Place

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Marquette, hoping to regain a place among the nation's major independent basketball powers, has dipped into the small college ranks and picked Al McGuire as the ninth coach in the university's 47-year history of the sport.

McGuire, a 35-year old former St. John's University star and pro stand-out, was recruited from the Belmont Abbey College campus in Belmont, N.C., Saturday to try and restore Marquette court fortunes.

Dr. Thomas R. Abbott, chairman of the Marquette athletic board, said McGuire was selected to succeed the fired Eddie Hickey from more than 50 applicants, only three of whom were interviewed personally.

At the same time, the board named Stan Lowe, 60, a member of the school's athletic department since 1924, as athletic director. Hickey had held both posts until he was fired after the most dismal season in Marquette basketball history. The Warriors won only five of 26 games.

McGuire said that he agreed to a two-year contract.

McGuire was captain of the 1951 St. John's team which finished third in the National Invitation Tournament. He played for the New York Knickerbockers in the National Basketball Association and then served as an assistant at Dartmouth from 1951-56.

He moved to Belmont Abbey even years ago and compiled an over-all record of 120 victories and 60 defeats. Five of his teams went to small college post-season tournaments.

Three Stake Races

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—The last full week of racing at Gulfstream Park begins today and three stakes races highlight the six-day program.

Ririe Guerin and Elmo Beatty added 19 each.

A brief pushing match spiced the first quarter as players from both benches emptied onto the court. Wayne Hightower and Al Attles of the Warriors were set to take on Beatty, but they were separated before any punches were thrown.

Betting on Soccer Games Under Probe

SHEFFIELD, England (AP)—Police investigations start today into a soccer betting scandal that threatens a major disaster for Britain's national sport.

Soccer authorities launched their own investigation alongside the police probe. Football insiders were saying it seemed inevitable that several top players will be barred from the game for life.

The storm erupted with an article in The People, a Sunday newspaper with a circulation of five million, charging that a big money betting ring had corrupted nearly 30 players in its hunt for large profits.

The People named three players:

Tony Kay, Everton and former Sheffield Wednesday half-back, a key man in the England international squad.

Peter Swan, Sheffield Wednesday's center half and veteran of 19 international matches.

David Bronco Layne, Wednesday's high scoring center forward.

These three, The People said, backed Sheffield Wednesday to lose against Ipswich in a first division match in December 1962. Kay then still was a member of the Sheffield side.

Wednesday lost. The three players won heavily, but could do so, The People said, only because their bet was coupled with other matches which the betting ring had fixed.

This coupling with other matches was essential because under British rules bets on a single match are barred.

Sheffield Wednesday immediately suspended Swan and Layne and dropped them from tonight's match with Tottenham Hotspur. Kay was due to meet with Everton's directors this morning. He told newsmen he denies The People's charge in entirety.

Red Wing Coach a Fair Prophet

TORONTO (AP)—Coach Sid Abel of the Detroit Red Wings turned out to be a pretty accurate prophet. As a result, his team is one down in the Stanley Cup finals in the National Hockey League playoffs.

The defending champion Toronto Maple Leafs took the opener of the best-of-seven series 3-2 Saturday night and will try to make it two in a row here Tuesday night.

Abel told newsmen last Friday that he figured Bobby Pulford was the most dangerous man on the Toronto team because "he is a hard-nosed guy who is always in there trying."

It was Pulford who broke loose on a dramatic dash while the Leafs were short-handed to slam home the winning goal with only two seconds left in the game.

The Leafs, seeking their third straight Stanley Cup, beat Detroit four games to one in the 1963 final, and odds on their repeating went up after their victory in the opener.

Ortiz Starts Title Defense in Good Way

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (AP)—Lightweight champion Carlos Ortiz, fresh off an impressive title defense against Kenny Lane, is expected to choose his next challenger within a month.

Bill Daley, manager of the Puerto Rican-born New Yorker, said today that Ortiz is considering three possible opponents. He has been offered $100,000 to defend against featherweight champion Sugar Ramos in Los Angeles and $60,000 to fight Willy Quatier in Berlin or Johnny Bizzarro in Pittsburgh.

Lane, the Muskegon, Mich., left-hander who had campaigned for his shot at the crown while Ortiz met other challengers, left for home Sunday after fumbling his second, and possibly last, title fight.

"I should have jumped him. I waited too long to get going," said Lane. "If I had pressed the fight, he would have run out of gas."

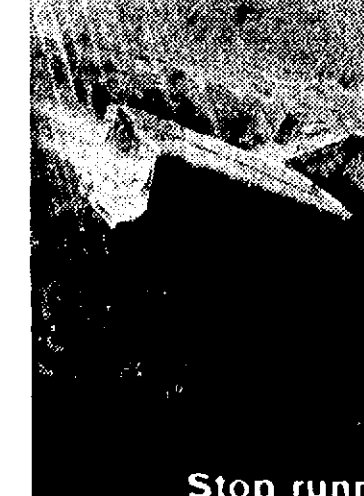

Ortiz, scornful of the challenger who was forced upon

American Ski Star Killed in Avalanche

ST. MORITZ, Switzerland (AP)—Buddy Werner, the hard-luck American ski star, lost a desperate race with an avalanche Sunday and was killed under tons of snow.

The 28-year-old Olympian was taking part in the filming of a ski fashions movie with other top skiers when the wet spring snow thundered down an Alpine slope at Samedan, a village two miles outside of this winter resort.

The avalanche also killed Barbara (Barbi) Henneberger, 23, one of West Germany's top women skiers. Fifteen others in the group dug themselves out or were freed by rescuers.

"It was a nightmare," said Fritz Wagnerberger, 27, a veteran German racer.

"We left early in the morning and chose what looked like a safe slope. Avalanches are frequent in the spring, but they rarely come down in the morning."

"We were crossing the slope in a file while the crew was filming when all of a sudden the snow gave way under our skis. It was about 10 o'clock in the morning."

"Pandemonium broke out. It was terrible. We were yelling and the screams could be heard over the thunder of the snow. 'Buddy Werner raced down in front of me trying to get away. He was a little lower down and probably thought he had a chance to race away from the slide.'

"Perhaps he could have done it, who can say? He got to the bottom, but then he slipped, somersaulted and was lying in the snow as the second arm of the slide crashed right on top of him."

"I think the same happened to Barbi."

Wagnerberger said those who dug themselves out rushed to where Werner and Miss Henneberger were buried and dug into the snow with bare hands. Other skiers from a nearby lift came quickly.

"In the end there were hundreds helping us," Wagnerberger said, "but for Bud and Barbi it was too late."

Miss Henneberger's body was found in eight feet of snow three hours after the slide. Werner's body was discovered an hour later in 10 feet. Both had suffocated.

Elsewhere in Switzerland, at least four Swiss were still missing after avalanches at Kuessnacht, in central Switzerland, and Sargans, near the Austrian border.

A Choice of Assassins

By William P. McGivern

He sat burning on the dark sands of a beach in southern Spain. The sand stretched like a border of dirty lace at the foot of a fishing village called Cartama. In front of him was the flat sea, and the sharp reflection of sunlight from its surface struck painfully at his red-rimmed eyes; behind him were the rolling, elephant-colored mounds of the Sierra Nevada mountains; inside him was a thirst that he knew would soon become dangerous. The man folded his arms over his knees and put his head down on his crossed wrists. The sun formed a layer of shimmering heat on his dirty white suit. Flies buzzed about his ears. He was isolated from the pleasant noisy activity of the beach; no one came near him, no one seemed curious about him; he sat alone in the heat. Suddenly he became aware of a strange object at his feet. It was round and red, shining with drops of water. A voice said tentatively, "That's my ball." He raised his head slowly, and felt the glare of the sun on his eyes and face. The light hurt his eyes. He blinked and wet his cracked lips. A child stood six feet from him, a thin, blonde girl who wore yellow shorts and an unnecessary sash about her flat brown chest. She watched him with grave blue eyes, a faint frown on her small face. In one hand she held a half-full bottle of orange-flavored soda water. "Could you throw it to me, please?" "All right," he rolled the ball across the sand, and she stooped and picked it up, her movements surprisingly quick and graceful. "Thank you very much," she said. "I threw it toward the water. But I can't throw very straight. It rolled over here." "All right, okay," he said, without moving his painfully cracked lips. "Why are you always so dirty?" she asked him politely, and rested one foot on top of the other to gain a moment's relief from the burning sand.

Now so long ago, he thought—months, maybe even weeks—this sort of thing could have brought tears to his eyes. But no more. All irrelevant emotion had been scoured out of him, brutally and finally; he was as clean and empty as if the job had been done with sandpaper and blow torches. But soon he would need a drink to anesthetize the one area the sandpaper and blow torches couldn't reach, and it was then he noticed the bottle of soda the child was holding in a thin brown hand.

"What's your name?" "Jennifer. Jennifer Davis. What's yours?" "Tony. Tony Malcolm. Do people call you Jenny?" She sighed. "Yes."

"Jenny's a pretty name. Tony and Jenny. How about that? Our names rhyme. You're American, too. I'll bet." "Yes. We're staying here a month. My mother doesn't like Spain, she says. She got sick from the food the first week we were here, and the doctor didn't speak any English."

Tony Malcolm smiled up at her and he pushed a black strand of sand—stiffened hair from his forehead. He was 32 years old.

"Let me tell you a secret, Jenny," Tony Malcolm said, leaning forward slightly—not enough to frighten her or cause her to draw away from him, but just enough to emphasize the artful threads of humor and excitement which were woven together in the soft, conspiratorial tones of his voice. "I'll tell you why I'm always dirty. When I was a little boy, about your age, I had a very strict governess. She was always marching me up to the bathroom to scrub my ears, and pulling me inside to change my clothes. She was a terrible woman. Ugly as a witch." Malcolm lowered his voice theatrically, and the little girl's eyes widened in helpless fascination.

"Was she really ugly?" she said, in a soft, breathless voice. "She'd make any witch you ever saw look like a movie star. But the worst part of it was the scrubbing and washing, morning, noon, and night." Malcolm shrugged humorously. "When I grew up, I decided to stop all that nonsense. No more changing my clothes three times a day." He smiled at her, confidently and cheerfully. "I'm dirty because I like to be dirty, Jenny. Now you know my secret. Aren't there things you'd like to do? But can't? Because there's always somebody to stop you?"

"I don't know," she glanced uneasily over her shoulder, as if she were afraid of being seen or overheard by the distant group of tourists sunning themselves among the bright cluster of beach umbrellas. Then, obviously reaching a decision, she squatted on her heels in front of him, and said in a serious, matter-of-fact voice: "Well, it doesn't make any difference. Because you can't do what you want when you're young. You have to wait till you're old, like you."

Malcolm scooped up a handful of sand and let it trickle idly through his fingers. Then, very casually, he let his eyes turn to the bottle she was holding. "Where did you get that?" "From back there," she said, swinging around to indicate the tourist area of the beach. "From the bar, from Manuel." "Did you pay him for it?" "No. I've got credit," she said seriously. "For two bottles a day, one in the morning and one in the afternoon."

"You just go up to the bar and ask for a bottle of soda and Manuel gives it to you?" She nodded importantly, obviously pleased by his mildly incredulous expression. "One in the morning, one in the afternoon."

"Would Manuel give you anything else if you asked for it?" "Like what?" "Oh, a sandwich, shrimps, sardines. Would he?" "Well, we eat at the hotel. We're on pensione." She pronounced the word to rhyme with "mention."

Malcolm felt a cold knot of anxiety tightening in his stomach. "Supposing you asked him for a bottle of wine, Jenny? What do you think he'd say?" "I couldn't do that," she said, widening her eyes with a suggestion of virtuous surprise. "My mother won't even let me have a sip of wine or beer. Mommy says it's just starting something there's plenty of time for later."

"I didn't say anything about you drinking the wine," he said, and his smile was so wide that it hurt his sunburned lips and cheeks. "I just thought we'd play a little joke on your mommy."

"You know her?" she tilted her head to one side, watching him skeptically. "Sure," Malcolm risked eve-

LBJ Tosses Out the First Pitch Today

By W. B. RAGSDALE Jr.
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson, an old hand at making a pitch for votes, makes a new kind of pitch today—one opening up the 1964 American League baseball season.

A tall right-hander who describes himself as "an old first baseman," Johnson has predicted he will handle the job creditably.

After the ceremonial toss, Los Angeles and Washington, a pair of tallenders hoping for better things, will play the first game of the season.

A sellout crowd of 45,000 is expected at D.C. Stadium under variously cloudy skies, in mild weather with temperatures reaching up near 70 degrees. There is a chance of occasional showers late in the day.

The presidential pitch is an ancient ritual, dating back more than a half century. Johnson is the 10th president to honor the tradition.

In keeping with the tradition, the opener in Washington is a day ahead of the rest of the American League.

Ken McBride of Los Angeles, a right-hander, and Washington left-hander Claude Osteen will take up the pitching chores where Johnson leaves off.

Best known of the new faces in the Senators' line-up today will be Bill Skowron, former New York Yankee first baseman obtained from the Los Angeles Dodgers.

The Angels also will have a new first baseman, Joe Adcock, who came to Los Angeles along with pitcher Barry Latman in a deal that sent power hitter Leon Wagner to Cleveland.

Anything on a guess. "Your mother's divorced, isn't she?" Jenny studied him with frank interest. "Yes, Daddy had his head turned," she said, with a small, practiced sigh. "He misses us terribly, but he had to leave us. It's like being sick, Mommy says."

Malcolm held his breath for an instant, trying desperately to think of another prop to buttress her slowly growing confidence in him.

"That's why your mommy's sad at times," he said, softly and caressingly, trying to cast his voice like a gentle net over the wings of her emotions and will. "It makes her feel sad to think of your daddy. It makes her cry, doesn't it?"

Jenny stared thoughtfully at the bright sea. "No, but she swears about him a lot, when we're on docks or stations, and the luggage gets lost or something. Or when he doesn't send us what he's supposed to in the mail."

She turned her narrow blonde head from the sea and studied Malcolm thoughtfully. She was a far from stupid child; during her small span of years she had heard sufficient baffling argument and recrimination between her parents to convince her that trying to understand the adult world was a waste of time.

"I was thinking we might play a little joke on your mother," Malcolm said. "To make her laugh, to cheer her up." She knew he was lying then, but, she said, "What kind of a joke?"

Porch Won't Win Pennant for Athletics

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Owner Charles O. Finley of the Kansas City Athletics should have insisted on a money-back guarantee when he purchased his Pennant Porch.

Based on a two-day trial, the porch isn't about to win the Athletics any pennants.

Two more home runs were hit at Kansas City's Municipal Stadium Sunday as the Athletics downed St. Louis 4-2 on the last day of the exhibition grind.

That made eight homers in all, three by the A's and five by the Cardinals, in the two-game series that inaugurated the plywood porch, a green and yellow field that cuts the length of a home run to right field from 330 feet to 296.

All of the home runs missed the porch, which is Finley's latest move to combat what he believes are the ills and inequities of baseball.

Actually, Finley has more moves than a belly dancer. The latest has helped get the 1964 season off to a bumpy start.

Of the two home runs hit Sunday, George Williams' two-run blow that won the game for the A's went to left-center while Johnny Lewis legged out an inside-the-park homer for St. Louis. Five of the six hits in the Cardinals' 9-7 victory Saturday soared to left field. The sixth went to center.

The exhibition championships went to San Francisco in the National League and Minnesota in the American. The Giants nipped Cleveland 7-6 while the Twins downed Detroit 3-1 Sunday.

In other games, the Los Angeles Angels blanked the Los Angeles Dodgers 5-0, the Chicago White Sox beat Cincinnati 11-0, the Chicago Cubs whipped Boston 6-3, Philadelphia edged Baltimore 3-2 and Washington rallied for an 8-7 victory over Pittsburgh.

Salt Lake City of the Pacific Coast League nipped Milwaukee 6-5, and Richmond of the International League defeated the New York Yankees 3-2.

New Baseball Season Opens

NEW YORK (AP)—A new baseball season opens today with new hopes, new faces, new managers, a new stadium and a new President throwing out the first ball. But the general forecast is the same—the Los Angeles Dodgers and New York Yankees to meet in the World Series.

The professional odds-makers have installed the Dodgers a 6-5 favorite to win the National League pennant. They have made the Yankees an overwhelming 2-5 choice to walk off with the American League championship.

Leading challengers to the Dodgers are San Francisco, St. Louis, Cincinnati, and Milwaukee in that order. Nobody expects any club to seriously challenge the Yankees but those considered to have an outside chance include Minnesota, Chicago, Detroit and Baltimore.

Kansas State Coach to Virginia Tech

BLACKSBURG, Va. (AP)—Howie Shannon, 40-year-old assistant coach at Kansas State University, was named head basketball coach at Virginia Tech today.

Shannon takes over the job vacated Saturday by Bill Mattheews, who resigned after two seasons to become assistant to Tech athletic director Frank Moseley and field secretary of the Tech student aid association.

The new Tech coach has been an assistant at Kansas State under Coach M. F. (Tex) Winter since 1954. He captained the K-State team when the Wildcats won their first Big Seven Conference title in 1947-48.

'Principle', Says Finley of His Porch

By JIM VAN VALKENBURG
Associated Press Sports Writer

KANSAS CITY (AP)—"It's a matter of principle," Charles O. Finley says of his short home run porch, "to finally bring the Yankees in line." The outspoken Kansas City owner plans another move today with the same goal.

Finley made it clear he has no intentions of giving up his effort to demonstrate—with plywood fences, paint and temporary bleachers—what he feels are the inequities of New York's Yankee Stadium.

Ford Frick, commissioner of baseball, and Joe Cronin, president of the American League, ordered Finley in stern words to take down his "pennant porch," a green and yellow near-replica of the right field sector in Yankee Stadium, where the foul line homer distance is 296 feet.

Finley gave no hint of his next move Sunday, saying "first I want to give Mr. Cronin and Mr. Frick the courtesy of a phone call, which is more than they gave me."

"I'm trying to be nice and within the rules but I have more moves in mind, if they can't see the fairness of this."

"My manager, Ed Lopat, was a great pitcher with the Yankees," Finley said. "I've talked to others. It's a fact you have to pitch differently in Yankee Stadium than the other nine parks. It's unfair."

"The show hasn't changed in 18 years in the American League," he said. "As an owner, I'm concerned. Yankee domination could reach the point of no return. They win because their hitters learn to take advantage of the stadium with cheap homers."

"Why shouldn't there be a screen in Yankee Stadium to compensate for the homer distance of less than the 325 feet in the rule book? In Boston it's only 315 to left, but the wall is 37 feet high, not 51 inches as in the stadium."

"Certainly, my porch is against the intent of the rule, but what about the Yanks? The rule says 325 to the pole, not the nearest fence and I'm within the rule. I can't operate on intent."

Frick indicated it was a matter of principle with him, too, as he declared, "there's only one interpretation and I make that. There's no hearing, no appeal, no nothing."

Peacocks Descend on Neighborhood

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—Anyone for Pavan cristatus pie? The next question is "what's that?" Well, it's peacock pie, for which, it seems, no one has the recipe.

Several home owners in East Pasadena had the ingredients Sunday morning when a flock of peacocks—Pavan cristatus—descended on their neighborhood.

Now the peacock is a beautiful bird, except when he opens his mouth. His call, if it can be called that, is a raucous screech, resembling the sound of a disabled jet engine.

The pea hen, his mate, speaks in similar tones. A crew from the humane society spent several hours chasing the birds. They caught one.

The rest moved to the campus of nearby Pasadena City College, where the pursuit continued.

Where they came from, nobody knew, but officials suspected they were from the nearby Los Angeles State and County Arboretum.

Broyles Pleased With Scrimmage

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP)

—The University of Arkansas Razorbacks take it easy today and Tuesday with their first four days of spring football practice behind them.

The Porkers went through their first scrimmage Saturday and coach Frank Broyles indicated he was pleased with the session.

Broyles said the players, as a whole, "seem to be getting the idea a little better."

"Some hard tackles caused several fumbles," Broyles said. "They were knocking that ball loose."

The Whites beat the Reds 20-16 in the scrimmage, during which six players left the field with injuries.

Sixteen more spring practice sessions are scheduled at the rate of four a week.

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—"Women are being made to look like absolute idiots by television," said Betty Furness, "and I think it is a very serious situation."

Miss Furness, who quit her position as TV's top saleswoman a few seasons back to return to other performing areas and now has a daily CBS radio network show, points sadly to the situation comedies and to the commercials.

"It's like a battle of the sexes, with nothing to gain for the women. I have never caught a television show in which a woman was trying to be darling to her husband except 'The Dick Van Dyke Show.' It is almost as if the people at the top of the pyramid had decided to degrade women and never to let them be seen as real people."

Miss Furness says that she is "deeply offended" by commercials showing attractive girls "who can't even keep their houses clean."

"They constantly suggest that the American woman is totally incapable of doing the simplest household chores and they have them learning from men—repairmen and even delivery boys. Calvin has cleaned just about every sink in America and it is ridiculous. Imagine a grocery delivery boy teaching a middle-aged woman how to clean her kitchen floor."

An unusual television series is scheduled for next season. A special foundation has been chartered to produce six 90-minute programs, each a drama showing some little-known, but nonpolitical activity of the United Nations. The funds—$4 million—have been contributed by a large corporation (Xerox) that will receive discreet identification but no commercials.

The filmed specials will be made on location all over the world and will star some of the great names of show business. Telsun Foundation, the project parent, offered each of the three major networks two of the projected shows. CBS turned them down, but NBC will broadcast two or perhaps three, and ABC the remainder.

Wants to Issue Stock Dividend

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The General Waterworks Corp. asked the Public Service Commission today to make a six per cent stock dividend.

The company, which operates waterworks in Pine Bluff, Russellville, England and several other Arkansas communities, wants to make a three per cent dividend on May 1 and another three per cent dividend on Nov. 1.

It said in the application that it has 1,454,000 shares of stock worth about $32 a share outstanding and that it will have to issue 1,056 shares to make the dividend.

special work in preparing and filing Income Tax Returns were Mrs. Alcola Wade, Mrs. Thelma Wilson, Mrs. Essie Scott and Mr. Andrew Duffie.

The program was tape recorded by Mr. Earl J. Scoggins played for the class and later for Miss Upchurch.

Mr. James Calloway visited the class. Pictures was taken and palatable repass was served to all.

K Prefers Prosperity to Revolution

By JAMES MARLOW
Associate Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — Premier Khrushchev's desire for goulash explains why a man in this country can be radical at 19 but conservative at 45.

He had nothing to lose at 19, but a lot at 45: A house, wife, kids to put through school, ambitions to be company president and a pension if he lives long enough.

As Khrushchev said in a jibe at the war-minded Red Chinese who defame him for not being war-minded enough: "We didn't fight the revolution in order to live worse."

Goulash was his way of saying he prefers prosperity to revolution. It's a reflection of Russia's growing affluence, which is a good, practical reason for being less belligerent and reckless.

Like the man of 45, Khrushchev isn't anxious to risk a nuclear war which would wipe out all the Russians have struggled to achieve—a better life—since the Bolshevik Revolution of 1917.

This makes the Russian-Red Chinese split in a very deep sense a difference between the haves and the have-nots of communism.

The Russian masses in their revolutionary days, like the Chinese now, didn't have much to lose but their lives and must have felt, as their acceptance of communism showed, that anything was better than nothing.

In time this may prove true with the poor of Latin America and elsewhere for, where there are impoverished millions and the wealthy few resist reforms, communism has an excellent talking point.

Now after two generations of work and privation the Russians, as a nation and individually, through the acquisition of possessions have won a sense of domestic security, a condition that can dampen revolutionary ardor.

At least it can by this reasoning: Revolution disturbs, peace preserves.

This doesn't mean, and Khrushchev's words can't be interpreted as meaning, the Russians have become too placid to encourage revolt where it suits them if the revolt doesn't risk

People in the News

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

MANILA (AP) — President Diosdado Macapagal of the Philippines says that if there is another war for freedom, Americans will find Filipinos fighting alongside them.

Addressing a program marking the 22nd anniversary of the fall of Bataan to the Japanese, Macapagal said Americans, who once ruled the Philippines, had engraved in the hearts of Filipinos an intense desire for education and a love of independence.

NEW YORK (AP) — "The best qualified man to be presiall-out war.

While he has preached all-out war, he considered as acceptable the so-called "liberation movements" which can take in everything from guerrilla wars to uprisings.

The Soviet leadership has to feel, by its doctrine, that the best world is a Communist one, and the sooner the better. But even here the leaders must have some misgivings about believing it totally.

They have learned from their unhappy experiences with those renegades from Soviet control—Yugoslavia, Albania, Red China—that a Communist world might not necessarily be a peaceful one after all.

Such divisions in a Communist world might put Moscow in a new jeopardy, but this time from its ideological brothers instead of from capitalism.

This is what Red China would like, judging from its hostility to Moscow now, and what she apparently has been seeking in her attacks on Khrushchev and her appeals to the Russian satellites to cut loose.

This condition has its own irony: If Red China became the center of a Communist world, no doubt, judging from Russia's troubles with her one-time allies, there would be fresh divisions and hostility to Peking.

The reason: Nationalism has been a stronger force than communism, even within the Communist states. So long as this is true, and it shows no signs of diminishing, it will assert itself to the disadvantage of Red harmony.

The Red Chinese, being now in the position of the Russians of 1917, can afford to be cantankerous, adventuresome and reckless, since they have less to lose in worldly goods than their prosperous Russian neighbor.

Spotlight on Prices of Steel in U.S.

By SAM DAWSON

AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Prices and how they're really arrived at are again sharply in the fore with the steel antitrust indictments.

The average citizen's pocketbook is affected despite the long and often devious road from the prime producer to the retail tag on consumer products. And he wonders just how the price is set. Is he getting a fair shake?

So far the charges against eight major steel companies of conspiring from 1955 to 1961 to fix prices on carbon steel sheet such as used in autos and household appliances are only that—the charges are yet to be proved in court.

But sure to be aired in coming weeks and months is speculation on how many industries have conspired to fix prices and also the question: What roles do business ethics or fear of prosecution play in fixing prices, or steering clear of fixing them?

Federal antitrust suits in the electrical equipment, steel and other industries seek to answer these questions.

Or are prices just quietly administered, as often charged? That is, are the giants in many industry able to set about any price they think most likely to bring in the most profitable volume of sales, and must the little fellow just tag along?

This theory was advanced after prices failed to slide much in recent recessions in spite of sharp fall-offs in demand and therefore in production. The charge was that the giants were controlling supply to maintain prices.

Another postwar charge was that the wage-price spiral was opposed by neither labor nor management, that wage demands weren't fought against because companies could just raise prices to meet them. The charge was complacency at the expense of the consumer, with his unsatisfied urge to buy many gadgets.

The theory in a democracy is that prices are set by supply and demand. And if monopolies are formed, antitrust laws are passed to break them up, and government policing protects the consumer. Then it's just a question of how big is the demand for any product in relation to the supply of it—prices going up when demand exceeds supply, and dipping when unsold supplies pile up.

But in today's complex economy, this law of supply and demand often has a hard time operating.

Government controls often keep prices from responding to supply and demand. The U.S. government used to set the price of sugar by raising or lowering the amount that could be imported.

It now enters into, or discusses, international agreements that regulate the supply, and therefore the price, of such things as coffee, tin, and even gold.

Management can argue that if the giants in any industry lowered prices enough, all the little competitors would die, and you'd be right back to monopolies.

And few, this side of the Soviet Union, would like to see the government take over the role of final arbiter of all prices.

3 Arkansas Colleges Are Censured

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The American Association of University Professors censured four colleges. Saturday three of them in Arkansas.

The action brought to four the number of Arkansas schools on the AAUP's list of 17 censured colleges and universities.

The University of Arkansas, College of the Ozarks, and Mercy College, Detroit, are the latest schools added.

Arkansas State Teachers College at Conway was already on the list, and the AAUP voted Friday to continue its censure.

Censure by the group is designed to discourage to quality professors from taking positions at the schools.

Schools are censured on charges of difficulties over professors' tenure rights, summary dismissals or questionable academic freedom.

The censure of the university stemmed from its refusal to reinstate John L. McKenney in 1958. McKenney would not comply with Act 10 of 1958 which required teachers to sign a loyalty oath.

The AAUP said the university's attitude was hypertechnical and narrow.

Dr. David W. Mullins, university president, called the action unjustified and said he was disappointed.

Literary Meet Talent Contest Winners

APPROXIMATELY 250 PERSONS WERE ON HAND at Washington last week for the high school talent division of the Hemstead Literary meet. Four schools entered the Senior Division. Mrs. B. C. Hyatt and Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Wagner were the judges. Robert May and E. R. Brown totalled score sheets and Haskell Jones was master of ceremonies.

SARATOGA SCHOOL WON THE CHORAL CONTEST with Spring Hill second and Guernsey coming in third.

SARATOGA'S PAT AND JACKIE SCHOOLEY AND Jo Hawthorne won second place in the trio. Guernsey was first and Spring Hill tied with Saratoga for second.

FIRST PLACE IN THE DUET WAS TAKEN BY Spring Hill's Janice Martin and Diane Anderson. Guernsey was second and Blevins third.

FIRST PLACE IN THE TRIO WAS GUERNSEY'S Neda Gaines, Carolyn Powell and Penny Stockton.

Sue Montgomery of Blevins was second in the instrumental. Carla Martin of Washington was first and Kathryn Coleman of Guernsey third.

Transportation Bill Delay Surprises

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Oren Harris, D-Ark., said Thursday he was surprised that the House Rules Committee had deferred action on the administration's transportation bill.

Harris, who wrote the bill, is trying to guide it through Congress. He declined further comment.

The committee voted 8-6 to defer action, and the vote to kill the bill was deadlocked 7-7.

The measure is designed to equalize freight rates among all from his classroom inflicts ignominy upon the teacher and is destructive to the academic community.

Davis said he thought the implications of the censure were that the same conditions existing in 1958 when Hamilton was fired still exist.

Dr. Lawrence Davis, president of Arkansas AM&N was not available for comment.

AM&N was censured for dismissal of an agriculture instructor, J. M. Cheatham for alleged mismanagement of $4,400 in scholarship funds.

State Teachers was continued on the list for dismissing Thomas Higgins in 1960. Higgins, assistant professor of music, was dismissed on charges that he disapproved of racial segregation, partook of alcoholic beverages and was "a Bohemian," the AAUP said.

99 Years Ago the Curtain Went Down

By J. W. DAVIS

WASHINGTON (AP)—Ninety-nine years ago Tuesday, the curtain went down at Ford's Theatre with an awful finality. That was the night it became the most famous—or most infamous—playhouse in America.

The building was never again used as a theater. It was stained forever that night with the blood of President Abraham Lincoln, assassinated while he sat in its presidential box and watched its last play.

But now there is a strong and possibly winning campaign well under way, with considerable support in Congress, to restore the building to what it was the night John Wilkes Booth shot Lincoln.

There is no hope that it can be restored by the time of the centennial of the assassination, April 14, 1965. That had been a target date until a few years ago.

But Col. Randle B. Truett, National Park Service historian, a dedicated and enthusiastic supporter of the restoration dream, says "We don't have the money—about $2 million—but we will."

There is some difference of opinion as to whether the building should be turned into an active playhouse, in view of the tragedy it symbolizes.

The site was originally occupied by a Baptist church built in 1833. Its physical properties

Bob Thomas at the Movies

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Can "Ben Casey" make it back to the upper reaches of television audience ratings? Vince Edwards thinks so.

"I'll pull a Cassius Clay," says the grim-faced medico. "I predict we're going to whup 'em."

Casey got whupped in the ratings this season, thanks to a disastrous network maneuver. In its second season, "Ben Casey" was second only to the "Beverly Hillsbillies."

So why not, thought the ABC minds put our surgeon against the CBS cornballers?

"Ben Casey" skidded from No. 2 to 58th in the audience poll.

"I knew it was a mistake from the start. I fought against it, but I got nowhere," Edwards said.

"It was tough enough to face the top comedy show. The president's assassination made it even worse. People didn't want to look at dramatic shows; they needed comedy."

"The admission of error on the part of the network is apparent in our being shifted back to our former Monday night time."

"I predict that next season we will again be in the top 10 shows. I further predict that we will have the highest rating of any dramatic show on the air."

Rise or fall, Edwards is committed to fourth and fifth seasons with "Ben Casey." He seems content with his fate, especially since his deal with Bing Crosby Productions allows him time off for films. After a brief New York vacation, he plans to work through the season so he can make a movie this fall. It will likely be "The Chase" for producer Sam Spiegel.

Takes After Famous Dad in One Way

By JOHN R. STARR

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Winthrop Paul Rockefeller takes after his famous dad in at least one respect — he wears cowboy boots.

The 15-year-old Winnie was decked out in boots for the news conference at which his father announced as a Republican candidate for governor.

Asked how his classmates at the school which he attends near Geneva, Switzerland, react to the boots, young Rockefeller said, "They think they're kind of odd."

But the Republican have no monopoly on boots. Two ranking members of the Faubus administration — Prison Supt. Dan Stephen and John Brown, an office aide, wear them regularly.

So does Supreme Court Justice Sam Robison.

Mrs. Orval E. Faubus has made a full circle her attitude toward her husband's political life.

A shy, mountain girl, she at first urged him to shun the spotlight. After his first term victory, she became a gracious first lady but she yearned for her home at Huntsville. Two years ago she urged Faubus to retire and was openly joyous when he did announce his retirement.

He got back in the race, of Members of the Arkansas Senate thinking about a sixth term and Ford leased the building for five years, beginning Dec. 10, 1861.

Just before 1862 ended, a disastrous fire left only the blackened walls standing. A more elaborate building was built, called "Ford's New Theatre," on the same spot, and opened for business Aug. 27, 1863.

Lincoln attended just once in 1865. It was the evening of Good Friday, the stars were Harry Hawk and Laura Keane and the show was "Our American Cousin," a trifle described in the handbills as an eccentric comedy.

Shortly after 10 p.m. Booth climbed the stairs to the dress circle, walked through a passageway and slipped into the unguarded presidential box.

In the darkness, he moved behind the President who was sitting in a rocker. He fired the fatal shot, and in the excitement, leaped to the stage, ran out a back door, jumped on a horse and escaped. Booth was hunted down and shot dead 12 days later in a Virginia barn.

said this week that it, too, planned no customer rate reductions because of the tax cut.

Ritchie said a $39 million construction program would consume the tax cut savings. A rate reduction would force the company to borrow money to finance construction, he said, and this would not be in the public interest.

A coalition of trucking, grain and port interests against the bill was believed behind the surprising deferral vote.

N.Y. World's Fair Is $1 Billion Show

By FRANCIS STILLEY

NEW YORK (AP) — It's a billion-dollar show.

The 1964-65 New York World's Fair which opens April 22 will be an expensive and lavish spectacle.

Attendance originally was estimated at 70 million admissions for the two seasons of operation. But now, with 28 million tickets already sold, there are predictions that attendance may reach 100 million.

It will be a mile-square panorama of the wonders of yesterday, today and tomorrow, blending together achievements of science, education, religion, art, philosophy, music and culture.

The visitor will travel back through millions of years of the earth's history and peer into the far future. And he will see firsthand the best of what the world has to offer today in exhibits from around the world.

Theme of the giant exposition—four years in the making — is "Peace Through Understanding."

About 60 foreign countries will have pavilions or displays featuring their arts, crafts, cuisine and culture.

From the United States, about half the 50 states are represented, many with extensive displays and shows. The federal government, with one of the largest shows on the grounds, will have a sweeping variety of things to see and do—including a "you are there" journey through the sights and sounds of American history.

Some astonishing spectacles have been created by the giants of American commercial enterprise—General Motors, General Electric, Bell Telephone, Ford, Eastman Kodak, Du Pont.

So extensive are their shows and displays that the visitor can spend the better part of a half day viewing each.

The most spectacular parts are arranged in the form of tours which last 12 to 15 minutes. These may be viewed from moving chairs or vehicles which create a feeling of almost personal and private tours.

Mrs. Faubus isn't asking him to quit.

"I told him to do what he wants to," she said, indicating she shares a majority opinion—that he wants to and will run.

Members of the Arkansas SKU preme Court say privately that they were unjustly criticized for their decision in the controversial Cude child custody case.

Publicly the court members never comment on a decision, regardless of how controversial it may become and of how much criticism is hurled at them.

But several justices told newsmen after the Cude furor that all the court did was rule on established precedent that both compulsory school attendance laws and compulsory vaccination do not violate constitutional guarantees. Beyond that they merely approved the lower court's method of handling the case, to wit: Take the children, vaccinate them, enroll them in school and return them to Cude.

It wasn't a case, the court members explained, of the court taking the children from their parents forever. If Cude, as he threatened, refused to take them back, then the decision would be his and not the court's, the justices explained.

The man who drew the program for the Community Awards Day at the Marion Hotel must be a Democrat.

In listing Winthrop Rockefeller, the program carried, in the space for position, a line of question marks. It was in that time between Rockefeller's resignation from the Arkansas Industrial Development Commission and before he got into the governor's race.

But Rockefeller was, and is, Republican national committeeman and could have been listed as such.

West Memphis May Get 3 Industries

WEST MEMPHIS, Ark. (AP)

—The West Memphis Chamber of Commerce announced Thursday three industries which would provide a total of about 300 jobs are considering locating here.

W. K. Ingram, president of the chamber, said two of the firms should reach a decision before Monday. The third will not take any definite action until the latter part of May, he said.

The firms were not identified. Ingram said one would employ 75 initially and up to 160 later, a second would employ some 100 persons and the third about 25. No figures on the cost of the plants were revealed. Ingram said one firm was negotiating for a plant.

Customers Won't Get Tax Savings

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Arkansas Power & Light Co. told the state Public Service Commission Thursday it plans to plow savings from the 1964 federal income tax cut into company improvements.

"AP&L is not now in a position, nor will it be at anytime during 1964, to pass on the benefits . . . in the form of further rate reductions," President Reeves Ritchie wrote the PSC.

$200 Stolen

LESLIE, Ark. (AP) — Burglars took $200 in silver and an undetermined amount of valuables in safety deposit boxes from the Leslie State Bank, it was discovered Sunday. Authorities said methods used to break in were similar to those used in 1962, when burglars got $5,000 in silver.

Just before 1862 ended, a disastrous fire left only the blackened walls standing. A more elaborate building was built, called "Ford's New Theatre," on the same spot, and opened for business Aug. 27, 1863.
